Got questions?
If you still have questions after reviewing the information here, check out At Your Service (atyourservice.ucop.edu). You'll find general information, UC publications and forms, and details on benefit plans. To review the specific benefits you're enrolled in, sign in to your At Your Service Online (AYSO) account, and then choose “Current Enrollments” under the “Health and Welfare” option. (UCOP employees can sign in to UCPath for information about their benefits.) You can also contact your local Benefits Office for help.
At the time you move on from UC employment, you’ll want to make your transition as seamless as possible.

You’ll also want to be sure you understand what options you have regarding your health, welfare and retirement benefits.

This fact sheet outlines what happens to your benefits when you leave UC, and how to arrange to continue or convert your coverage if you need to.

There are a few important details to complete. For example, be sure to return any UC items related to your job, including keys, access cards, cell phone, laptop, etc. And you’ll want to leave voicemail and email messages letting contacts know where to find you and who to contact on UC business after you’ve left.

If you’re taking a leave without pay, check the Leave Without Pay Fact Sheet for information that applies to you. It is available online at ucal.us/leavewithoutpay.

Finally, if you’re leaving one campus, medical center or laboratory to work at a different UC location, please contact the Benefits Offices at both your new location and your current one as soon as possible to arrange for a smooth transition of your benefits. You’ll find detailed information about what you need to do online at ucal.us/intercampustransfer.
Health, Welfare and Other Benefits

For the most part, your participation in UC benefits will end when you leave, unless you are retiring. Fortunately, if you need to continue certain benefits, you have some options for doing so.

If you’re leaving UC for medical reasons, please contact your local Benefits Office right away. They can help determine your eligibility for disability, retirement and other possible benefits.

If you’re being laid off, please see the UCnet roadmap What to do if you’re laid off temporarily or What to do if you’re being laid off. You’ll find important information there that may be applicable to you, including details about preference for re-employment and right to recall.

You can continue some of your UC benefits — both for yourself and your spouse, domestic partner or eligible dependents — through COBRA. This program may allow you to continue medical, dental, vision and health flexible spending account benefits for up to 18 months. Coverage under COBRA is identical to the UC-sponsored coverage that you and your dependents had just before you ended UC employment. A company called CONEXIS handles COBRA administrative services for UC. Once UC notifies CONEXIS that you are terminating employment, CONEXIS will send you a COBRA election packet. You’ll need to send your enrollment forms and premiums directly to CONEXIS.

For additional details about COBRA, please see ucal.us/COBRA. If you are enrolled in a fully insured plan when your 18-month COBRA period ends, you may be able to continue your medical coverage for an additional 18 months under CalCOBRA.

Another option, for certain benefits, is to convert your group coverage to an individual policy. Be aware, though, that individual policies are often more expensive, and provide fewer benefits, than group coverage.

You may also want to explore your options through the health insurance marketplace established under the Affordable Care Act. In California, you can find information at coveredca.com or call 800-300-1506.

The table on pages 5–7 summarizes continuation options for your UC health and welfare benefits.

Tip:
You may be eligible for unemployment insurance. You can get details and apply for benefits at your local office of the California State Unemployment Department (EDD), or online at edd.ca.gov. If you work outside California, check with the comparable agency in your state.

UC Retirement Plan and UC Retirement Savings Program Plans

When you leave UC employment, you have several options about what to do with your pension and retirement savings.

UC RETIREMENT PLAN

If you’re a UCRP member, you’ll stop accruing UC Retirement Plan (UCRP) service credit when you go off pay status. You are eligible for one of these options:

BECOMING AN INACTIVE UCRP MEMBER

If you leave your accumulations in the Plan, you may become an inactive member, which means that you retain the right to future UCRP retirement benefits. You’ll be an inactive member if you meet one of the following criteria:

- you have at least five years of service credit
- you’re eligible for reciprocity
- you were medically separated from University employment and are eligible to apply for UCRP disability income
- you’re a faculty member of a University medical school who has been appointed by the Veterans Administration to a University-affiliated hospital, and, as a result, receive no further covered compensation
- you’re a ladder-rank faculty member employed by the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) or Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research (Ludwig) or
- you became a Plan member July 1, 1989, or earlier, and reached age 62 while still an eligible employee.

Under certain circumstances, you may be able to become an inactive member even if you don’t have sufficient service credit. If you:

- are leaving UC employment involuntarily for budgetary reasons, and;
- could become vested only through an eligible service credit buyback.

You may be able to make an after-tax lump sum payment, before separation from employment, that would allow you to become vested. Contact your Benefits Office right away for more information.

Alternatively, if you have less than the required amount of UCRP service credit and have service credit in another eligible retirement plan, such as CalPERS, you might qualify to become vested because of your service with the other plan. Check with your Benefits Office.

If you’re not eligible for inactive membership, then you may request a refund of your UCRP accumulations. You must request a refund of your CAP balance, if any (see below).

ELECTING TO RETIRE

If you’re a UCRP member and eligible to retire, you may do so at any time. Important: You’ll need to retire within 120 days of your separation from UC employment if you want to continue any UC retiree health and other benefits for which you are eligible. For more information, please see ucal.us/ucrphwb.

To begin the process, contact the Retirement Administration Service Center at 800-888-8267.

If you elect to retire, you may choose to receive UCRP retirement income in the form of a monthly lifetime benefit or, under certain circumstances, a lump sum cashout.

You’re eligible for the cashout if you became a UCRP member before July 1, 2013, and:

- you are eligible to retire when you leave University employment, (that is, age 50 or older with five years of UCRP service credit) or
- you are an inactive or disabled member who is eligible to retire.

In general, members who joined UCRP after July 1, 2013 don’t have the lump sum option, unless you are a member of CNA, UPTE or AFSCME. To learn more, talk with your Benefits Office or see the Lump Sum Cashout Fact Sheet at ucal.us/lumpsumcashout.

Tip:
Let UC know your current address. If you leave money in the University of California Retirement Plan (UCRP), you must notify UC whenever you change your permanent address. You can update your address by signing in to your At Your Service Online (AYSO) account and then choosing “My Contact Information” in the left column. Or let your local Benefits Office know of any changes.
REQUESTING A REFUND OF UCRP ACCUMULATIONS
When you leave UC, you may request a refund of your accumulations, i.e., the UCRP contributions that you made, plus any interest. (UC’s contributions are not refundable.) You may also request a distribution of any Capital Accumulation Payment (CAP) balance.

You may request a refund of your UCRP accumulations regardless of whether or not you’re eligible for inactive UCRP membership, but there’s a significant downside: getting this refund cancels your right to any future UCRP benefits based on your years of service so far (unless you were to return to UC employment and reestablish service credit). Taking a CAP distribution does not have this consequence.

TAKING A CAPITAL ACCUMULATION PAYMENT (CAP) DISTRIBUTION
To take a CAP distribution, fill out the Distribution Request—CAP Balance form (UBEN 142CAP), which is available online at ucal.us/UBEN142cap. Or you can call the UC Retirement Administration Service Center (800-888-8267) to request a form.

BUYING BACK OR PURCHASING SERVICE CREDIT
If you have a buyback or purchase in progress and leave UC employment before you make all the payments, you’ll receive proportional service credit (or a proportional reduction in your noncontributory offset). Payments you’ve made won’t be refunded.

If you’d like to complete your buyback or purchase, you may be able to do so by making an after-tax lump sum payment within 60 days after you separate from UC employment. To be eligible, you must have already completed at least one year of payments. The payment may not exceed an annual limit under IRC 415(c).

UC RETIREMENT SAVINGS PROGRAM PLANS
KEEPING MONEY IN YOUR ACCOUNTS
If you are no longer working at the University of California, you can keep your money in the 403(b), 457(b) and DC Plans (including vested Savings Choice and Pension Choice supplemental accounts) for each plan that has a vested balance of at least $2,000.

If you don’t meet the balance requirement, you must receive a full distribution of your vested money from that plan. You can request a distribution, or rollover, by going online to myUCretirement.com and logging into NetBenefits or by calling Fidelity at 866-682-7787. (If you’re a non-exempt student employee, this method of taking a distribution applies to you as well.) Separated employees not meeting the minimum balance requirement will normally be subject to automatic distributions from that Plan within 90 days of separation.

If you don’t make arrangements for a distribution, your vested balance will be:

- Rolled over to an IRA custodian in an account maintained for you (if your vested balance is more than $1,000 but less than $2,000), or
- Paid directly to you at your address of record (if your vested balance is $1,000 or less).

You may be liable for taxes and penalties on the distribution. Check with Fidelity for more information.

PAYING BACK A 403(b) LOAN
If you have an outstanding loan, you’ll need to arrange one of the following options with Fidelity Retirement Services within 90 days of your last day on pay status:

- Make monthly payments
- Repay the outstanding amount in full.

If you don’t take action, the outstanding loan principal will be reported as a distribution. That means you’ll owe income tax on it, and possibly state and federal tax penalties as well.

QUESTIONS ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY OR OTHER RETIREMENT PLANS?
Contributions stop with your last paycheck. If you’re considering retiring and need information, contact Social Security directly. If you’re a member of another plan, contact the plan directly for information.

Tip:
Make sure your beneficiaries are up to date, even after you leave UC. If you decide to change the person or persons who’ll receive benefits from your retirement plan in the event of your death, you can do this any time online for UCRP and CAP. Go online and sign in to your At Your Service Online (AYSO) account and select “My Beneficiaries.” Or you may submit a Designation of Beneficiary—Retirees, Former Employees and Others form (UBEN 117), which you’ll find at ucal.us/UBEN117.

The online or paper process for UCRP and CAP beneficiaries does not apply to your Retirement Savings Program plans. To check or change your beneficiaries for the Retirement Savings Program, visit myUCretirement.com and log into NetBenefits or contact Fidelity at 866-682-7787.
Returning to UC Employment

If you return to work at UC, your eligibility to reenroll in benefits plans depends on your new position. If you’re eligible, your enrollments will vary depending on the plans themselves and how long you’ve been separated from UC.

You may also be eligible for reinstatement of other benefits such as sick leave, depending on the length of your separation. Contact your Benefits Office within 31 days of your rehire date for information.

If you return to work at UC and become a member of UCRP again, you may reestablish your service credit by redepositing any refund of your UCRP accumulations (plus interest). For more information, see the UCRP Buyback Booklet.

If you’ve retired from UC and return to work, please see the Returning to UC Employment after Retirement Fact Sheet at (ucal.us/returntowork) and talk with your local Benefits Office.
