Life happens, and UC understands that. That’s why one of your benefits is the option to take a leave without pay. You may find, for instance, that you’d like to extend your parental bonding or bereavement leave, or accompany your partner on an overseas work assignment.

If you need to take a leave because of a family or medical event, or because of disability, pregnancy, military service, a furlough or a temporary layoff, please see the specific fact sheets that cover these types of leave to make sure you understand all of your options. You can find details at ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/compensation-and-benefits/roadmaps/loa.html.

Before you decide to take unpaid leave, note that UC offers an option that may help you extend any paid leave for which you’re eligible. You can learn more about the Catastrophic Leave Donation Program in the “Leaves of Absence” policy document on UCnet (ucal.us/staffleave).

And if you think there’s a chance you may end UC employment during or after your leave, be sure to review the Termination of Employment Fact Sheet at ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/forms/pdf/termination-of-employment.pdf.

This fact sheet outlines the leave without pay benefit, how to arrange for a leave, and what you need to do to continue certain benefits during your leave. It also explains additional options for continuing benefits under COBRA, how to make the transition back to regular benefits when you return, and what to do if you don’t return.

HOW TO ARRANGE FOR A LEAVE

Contact your supervisor and your Human Resources representative as soon as the need for a leave arises.

During your leave, you may be eligible to continue many of your UC benefits—some for the same cost to you as during regular employment, and some at additional cost. For certain benefits, including medical and dental, you may (depending on the reason for your leave) need to pay the full premium (both your portion and UC’s). And you’ll need to make arrangements for those payments before you begin your leave. You can continue coverage for your dependents as well as for yourself, just like during regular employment.

IF YOU ARE A FACULTY MEMBER

Faculty members may want to consider the following:

- You may also be granted a leave without pay “for other good cause”—see the Academic Personnel Manual for details: ucal.us/apmsearch.
- Many faculty members are paid over 12 months for work over the academic year, with some payments in advance of time worked. If you begin an unpaid leave between August and December, you may be required to return pay for any period for which you received advance payments.

Got questions?

If you still have questions after reviewing the information here, check out UCnet (ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu). You’ll find general information, UC publications and forms, and details on benefit plans; UC staff policy on leaves is at ucal.us/staffleave.

Policies for Academic Personnel are available at ucal.us/apmsearch.

To review the specific benefits you’re enrolled in, sign in to your online UCPath account, or contact a UCPath representative for help.
Your Benefits: What You Need to Know

Once you’ve decided you want to take a leave, you’ll have lots of choices for continuing your benefits. You’ll need to start sorting through your options, assessing the costs, and getting the process under way as soon as possible. The information below summarizes the benefits you may and may not continue, their costs, and what you’ll need to do to continue and/or restart them.

If you decide not to continue your benefits during your leave, your coverage will end on the last day of the month for which your premiums or contributions have been paid. You won’t accrue vacation or sick leave while on leave. (For additional details, see the personnel policy or collective bargaining agreement that applies to you.)

Continuing Your Benefits: What You Need to Do

FOR MEDICAL, DENTAL, VISION, ACCIDENT, CRITICAL ILLNESS, HOSPITAL INDEMNITY, LEGAL, ACCIDENTAL DEATH AND DISMEMBERMENT AND SUPPLEMENTAL LIFE

Most important: Contact UCPath to make advance arrangements to pay your monthly premiums during your leave. You should do this as soon as you know you want to take a leave.

To enroll a family member during your leave, contact UCPath within 31 days of the date the person becomes eligible to enroll. You'll be required to provide documents to verify your family members' eligibility. (To learn about other opportunities to enroll in UC-sponsored plans, see A Complete Guide to Your UC Health and Welfare Benefits, available at ucal.us/healthguide) And, if a family member loses eligibility for benefits during your leave, you're responsible for getting in touch with UCPath to disenroll that person. If you don't do this, you or your family member may be liable for any expenses that aren't covered.

Moving during your leave? If you'll be away from your medical and/or dental HMO service area for more than two months, contact UCPath to transfer to a UC-sponsored medical or dental plan in your new location. UC's HMO plans only cover urgent care and emergency services outside of California. You'll need to transfer within 31 days of the date you leave the original service area. And check with your medical and dental plan carrier about whether you, and/or eligible family members, need to select a new primary care physician or dentist.

Also, be sure to let UC know your current address: Update it on your online benefits accounts, available through UCPath.

MORE OPTIONS FOR CONTINUING YOUR BENEFITS

COBRA AND CALCOBRA

You probably know about COBRA as a way to continue health coverage after you've left an employer. If you and/or eligible family members are enrolled in medical, dental or vision, you have the option to continue your UC-sponsored coverage, as well as eligibility for your location's Employee Assistance Program, for 18 months under COBRA during your leave. After that, you and/or your eligible family members may be able to extend your UC-sponsored medical coverage for an additional 18 months under CalCOBRA.

Most people choose not to go this route because it tends to be more expensive.

Deadlines: If you want to continue benefits via COBRA, you need to apply no later than 60 days from the date you lose coverage by reason of a qualifying event, or 60 days from the date you receive notice of your continuation rights—whichever is later. Talk with UCPath or your local Benefits Office about how to apply, or go to ucal.us/COBRA.

Tip:
Remember that when you’re making changes to your benefits, it’s your responsibility to meet UC’s deadlines. Be sure to leave yourself enough time to do this.

CONVERTING TO AN INDIVIDUAL POLICY
For certain plans—Medical, Legal, Basic Life, Supplemental Life, Basic Dependent Life, Expanded Dependent Life, and Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D)—you may be able to convert your UC- or COBRA-sponsored coverage to an individual policy. Note that converting to an individual policy may provide you with fewer benefits than you'd have by continuing coverage through UC.

Deadlines: For medical coverage, you need to apply for conversion no later than 31 days after your UC-sponsored or COBRA continuation coverage ends.

For the other benefits, you must apply within 31 days after your UC-sponsored coverage ends. (This assumes your coverage has been continuous; if you no longer have coverage, then you’re not eligible to convert to an individual policy.)

To learn about applying for conversion coverage, see ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu. You’ll also find information there about applying for Life and AD&D coverage.

MAKING YOUR LIFE, ACCIDENT, CRITICAL ILLNESS AND/OR HOSPITAL INDEMNITY INSURANCE PORTABLE
If you’re enrolled in Supplemental Life, Basic Dependent Life, Expanded Dependent Life, Accident, Critical Illness and/or Hospital Indemnity Plans, you may be eligible to continue coverage with the same benefits, provisions and premium rates as the UC-sponsored plans.

Deadline: You’ll need to apply for portability benefits within 31 days after the date your coverage ends. Contact UCPath with questions about how to apply.

Retirement and Savings Options: What You Need to Know and Do

UCRP, CAP AND SERVICE CREDIT
During your leave, your University of California Retirement Plan (UCRP) contributions and any Capital Accumulation Payment (CAP) balance you have will remain on deposit. You don’t have the option to withdraw them, and you don’t earn UCRP service credit. (You may be able to establish service credit for this period when you return; see “Service Credit Purchases” below). And you’ll still be eligible for any UCRP benefits that you were eligible for when your leave began.

If you had a service credit purchase in progress, payments will be suspended during your leave. When you return to pay status, deductions should restart automatically. If deductions do not restart, you’ll need to contact your local Payroll Office to get them started again.

During your leave, you don’t earn UCRP service credit or retiree health service credit through participation in Savings Choice. Your contributions to your University of California Retirement Plan (UCRP), your Capital Accumulation Payment (CAP) balance, and/or your Savings Choice account contributions, will remain on deposit; you don’t have the option to withdraw them. You’ll still be eligible for any UCRP benefits that you were eligible for when your leave began.

A leave without pay longer than two years will incur a break in service which may impact your retiree health eligibility or retiree health group. Special provisions apply to Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) faculty.

For more information on retiree health groups, please review the Retirement Handbook, available on UCnet at ucal.us/retirementhandbook.

SERVICE CREDIT PURCHASES
If you are a member of UCRP, you may be able to establish service credit for your leave period when you return. Savings Choice participants do not have the option to purchase service credit.

Generally, the cost of a leave purchase depends on when the leave occurred, its length, your age and how long you wait to elect the purchase. The sooner you start this process, the less it will cost you. (For more details about service credit purchases, check with your Benefits Office or see the UCRP Service Credit Purchase Guide, which is available on UCnet at ucal.us/purchase.)

Deductions for a UCRP service credit purchase in progress are suspended when you go off pay status, and should restart automatically when you return to work. If deductions do not restart automatically, you’ll need to contact your local Payroll Office to get them started again.
Retirement and Savings Options: What You Need to Know and Do

If you owe additional interest on a purchase in progress for the period of your leave, UC will add it to your outstanding balance. Your monthly payroll deductions won’t go up; instead, the payment period will be extended.

RETIREMENT SAVINGS PROGRAM

Contributions to the Retirement Savings Program (the Defined Contribution Plan, Tax-Deferred 403(b) Plan and the 457(b) Deferred Compensation Plan) stop with your last paycheck.

Once you return to pay status, your retirement plan contributions and retirement savings deductions will start up again automatically (although you may always change any voluntary salary contributions).

403(B) LOANS

If you have taken a loan through the Tax Deferred 403(b) Plan, you may set up one of the following payment options within 90 days of your last day on pay status:

• Make monthly payments
• Make a full payment covering the period you’ll be off pay status
• Repay the total outstanding amount of the loan before you go off pay status

Important: You may suspend 403(b) loan payments for up to 12 months during your leave without pay (24 months if you’re on military leave). When you return to work, you’ll need to resume payments. Depending on the terms of your loan, your payment amount may change, as you may need to repay the same amount over a shorter timeframe.

For details on how to arrange repayment or suspend payment, contact Fidelity Retirement Services at myucretirement.com or 866-682-7787 as soon as possible.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Neither you nor UC contributes to Social Security while you’re on leave without pay. If you’re a member of any other retirement plan, such as CalPERS, contact that plan directly for information.

Your Benefits after Your Leave Ends: What You Need to Know and Do

SCHOLARSHARE

Deductions stop with your last paycheck. Go to Scholarshare.com or call 800-544-5248 to learn more about your options.

BENEFITS THAT CONTINUED DURING YOUR LEAVE

For benefits you decided to continue during your leave—including medical, dental, legal, vision, accident, critical illness, hospital indemnity, basic dependent life, supplemental life, expanded dependent life and accidental death and dismemberment—your coverage is continuous when you return to work. Once you return to pay status, you are responsible only for the employee portion of the premium; UC pays the employer portion, as applicable.

BENEFITS THAT WERE DISCONTINUED DURING YOUR LEAVE

Benefits that were automatically canceled when you went on leave, including Voluntary Long- and Short-Term Disability, Health and Dependent Care Flexible Spending Accounts and TIP (Tax Savings on Insurance Premiums), will be reinstated by UCPath upon your return from leave.

For benefits you chose to discontinue during your leave, you will need to actively re-enroll to restart coverage when you return to work. You will need to complete re-enrollment within 31 days of your return to work (your Period of Initial Eligibility or PIE). The specifics of re-enrollment vary depending on the length of your leave:

• If your leave was less than 120 consecutive days and you return in the same plan year, you (and eligible family members) may re-enroll in the same plans, with the same level of coverage as before you left. You may add family members who became eligible during your leave. But even though you’re just starting the same coverage as you had before, you still must enroll within your PIE.
• If your leave was 120 days or more, or you return in a new plan year, you’ll be treated as a newly eligible employee. You (and eligible family members) may enroll in any UC-sponsored plans for which you’re eligible, but you’ll need to do so within your PIE.

What is a PIE?

Your Period of Initial Eligibility (PIE) is the time during which you (and/or eligible family members) are allowed to enroll in UC-sponsored benefit plans. After a leave without pay, your PIE starts the first day of eligibility (for example, the day you return to work or pay status) and ends 31 days later. (Or the next business day if the last day of your PIE falls on a weekend or holiday and you need to enroll with paper forms.)
If you miss the PIE window for enrollment, some benefit plans allow you to enroll during Open Enrollment, usually held in November. For Voluntary Disability and Life insurance, you may apply for enrollment at any time but you will be required to submit a statement of health to the insurance company, with no guarantee that you’ll be accepted. Eligible employees may enroll in AD&D (no statement of health required), Auto/Homeowners or Pet insurance at any time.

RETURNING TO WORK IN A NEW JOB
If you return to work in a new appointment, that appointment will determine the benefits for which you are eligible. Contact your local Benefits Office for details.

IF YOU’VE MOVED DURING YOUR LEAVE
If you have been out of your medical or dental plan’s service area during your leave, you may transfer back to your previous plan within 31 days of your return to the area. You (and/or your eligible family members) might also need to select a primary care physician or dentist. To transfer plans, get in touch with UCPath or your local Benefits Office. To change providers, contact your medical carrier or dental carrier.

VACATION AND SICK LEAVE
Once you start receiving paychecks again, you’ll begin accruing vacation and sick leave. For additional details, see the personnel policy or collective bargaining agreement that applies to you.

If You Don’t Return to UC Employment

If you end employment, most of what you need to know, and do, is covered in the Termination of Employment Fact Sheet at ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/forms/pdf/termination-of-employment.pdf. You can ask your local Benefits or Human Resources Office for more information about continuing group coverage.

Please note that you will be responsible for any insurance premiums that were due during your leave.

If you have a service credit purchase in progress and have completed 12 or more monthly payments, you may make a lump sum payment within 60 days after your separation from UC employment to complete the service credit purchase.

For California Unemployment Insurance, your coverage stops the last day you are actively at work. Depending on your circumstances, you may or may not be eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. Contact your local office of the California State Employment Development Department. If you work outside California, contact the state agency for your location.

If you decide to retire while on leave, be sure to talk to a retirement counselor before you elect to retire. If you’re eligible for, and want to continue your medical, dental, vision and/or legal coverage as a retiree, you must retire within 120 days of your separation from UC. You must also have continuous medical coverage (UC or non-UC) between your separation and retirement dates in order to remain eligible for UC retiree health coverage. For additional information, please review the Retirement Handbook, which is available on ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu. Or contact the UC Retirement Administration Service Center at 800-888-8267.

Verify your benefits and premiums
It’s a good idea to review your benefits on UCPath before your PIE expires (within 31 days after your return to work), to make sure your plans and premium deductions match your expectations. If you have any questions or concerns, contact UCPath.

Tip:
If you don’t return to UC employment because you decide to retire, you must retire within 120 days of your separation from UC if you are eligible and want to continue your medical, dental, vision or legal coverage as a retiree.

If you have been making monthly payments for a service credit purchase in progress, contact the UC Retirement Administration Service Center at 800-888-8267 to discuss your options for completing your payment before you retire.

The Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA) provides for continued coverage for a certain period of time at applicable monthly COBRA rates if you, your spouse, or your dependents lose group medical, dental, or vision coverage because you terminate employment (for reasons other than gross misconduct); your work hours are reduced below the eligible status for these benefits; you die, divorce, or are legally separated; or a child ceases to be an eligible dependent. Note: The continuation period is calculated from the earliest of these qualifying events and runs concurrently with any other UC options for continued coverage.
