Got questions?

If you still have questions after reviewing the information here, check out UCnet (ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu). You'll find general information, UC publications and forms, and details on benefit plans. To review the specific benefits you're enrolled in, log in to your UCPATH online account (ucpath.universityofcalifornia.edu). You can also contact your local Benefits Office for help.

At the time you move on from UC employment, you'll want to make your transition as seamless as possible.

You'll also want to be sure you understand what options you have regarding your health, welfare and retirement benefits.

This fact sheet outlines what happens to your benefits when you leave UC, and how to arrange to continue or convert your coverage if you need to.

There are a few important details to complete. First, make sure your personal email address is up to date in UCPATH before you leave UC so you receive the information you'll need to activate your former employee account. If you leave UC without a current personal email on file, call UCPATH for assistance. You'll also need to return any UC items related to your job and leave voicemail and email messages letting others know who to contact on UC business after you've left

- If you're taking a leave without pay, check the Leave Without Pay Fact Sheet for information that applies to you. It is available online at ucal.us/leavewithoutpay.

Finally, if you're leaving one campus, medical center or laboratory to work at a different UC location, please contact UCPATH as soon as possible to arrange for a smooth transition of your benefits. You'll find detailed information about what you need to do online at ucal.us/intercampustransfer.

Health, Welfare and Other Benefits

For the most part, your participation in UC benefits will end when you leave, unless you are retiring. If you're retiring, please see the Group Insurance Eligibility Fact Sheet for Retirees (available at ucal.us/gieretirees) to learn more about the benefits you're able to continue, and what you need to do.

Fortunately, if you need to continue certain benefits, you have some options for doing so.

If you're leaving UC for medical reasons, please contact your local Benefits Office right away. They can help determine your eligibility for disability, retirement and other possible benefits.

If you're being laid off, please see the UCnet roadmap What to do if you're laid off temporarily or What to do if you're being laid off (available at ucal.us/roadmaps). You'll find important information there that may be applicable to you, including details about preference for re-employment and right to recall.

You can continue some of your UC benefits—both for yourself and your spouse, domestic partner or eligible dependents—through COBRA. This program may allow you to continue medical, dental, vision and health flexible spending account benefits for up to 18 months. Coverage under COBRA is identical to the UC-sponsored coverage that you and your dependents had just before you ended UC employment. For additional details about how COBRA works and how to enroll, please see ucal.us/COBRA.

If you are enrolled in a fully insured plan (such as Kaiser and UC Blue & Gold Plan) when your 18-month COBRA period ends, you may be able to continue your medical coverage for an additional 18 months under CalCOBRA. There is no CalCOBRA extension for the UC self-funded medical plans. If you are enrolled in CORE, UC Care or UC Health Savings Plan, you will not be able to continue your coverage through UC after you have exhausted your 18-month federal COBRA continuation.

Another option, for certain benefits, is to convert your group coverage to an individual policy or port (or continue) your group insurance policy. Be aware, though, that converted individual policies are often more expensive, and provide fewer benefits, than group coverage. Porting coverage requires meeting additional requirements set by the carrier. For additional information, contact your Benefits Office or your insurance carrier.

You may also want to explore your options through the health insurance marketplace established under the Affordable Care Act. In California, you can find information at coveredca.com or call 800-300-1506.

The table on pages 5–7 summarizes continuation options for your UC health and welfare benefits.

WEX is the COBRA Administrator for the University. Please contact WEX if you have any questions about the COBRA continuation. Phone: (844) 561-1338 or Email: COBRAemployerservices@wexhealth.com

Tip:

You may be eligible for unemployment insurance. You can get details and apply for benefits at your local office of the California State Unemployment Department (EDD), or online at edd.ca.gov. If you work outside California, check with the comparable agency in your state.

UC Retirement Plan and UC Retirement Savings Program Plans

When you leave UC employment, you have several options about what to do with your pension and retirement savings.

UC RETIREMENT PLAN

If you're a UCRP member, you'll stop accruing UC Retirement Plan (UCRP) service credit when you go off pay status. You are eligible for one of these options:

BECOMING AN INACTIVE UCRP MEMBER

If you leave your accumulations in the Plan, you may become an inactive member, which means that you retain the right to future UCRP retirement benefits. You'll be an inactive member if you meet one of the following criteria:

- you have at least five years of service credit
- you're eligible for reciprocity
- you were medically separated from University employment and are eligible to apply for UCRP disability income
- you're a faculty member of a University medical school who has been appointed by the Veterans Administration to a University-affiliated hospital, and, as a result, receive no further covered compensation
- you're a ladder-rank faculty member employed by the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) or Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research (Ludwig) or
- you became a Plan member July 1, 1989, or earlier, and reached age 62 while still an eligible employee.

If you are leaving UC employment involuntarily for budget reasons and don't yet have five years of service credit, you may be able to become an inactive member by purchasing the service credit you need (for example, for an unpaid leave).

If you are eligible, you may be able to make an after-tax lump sum payment for a service credit purchase, before separation from employment, that would allow you to become vested. Contact your Benefits Office right away for more information.

Alternatively, if you have less than the required amount of UCRP service credit and have service credit in another eligible retirement plan, such as CalPERS, you might qualify to become vested because of your service with the other plan. Check with your Benefits Office.

Even if you're not eligible for inactive membership, you may leave your accumulations in UCRP and keep your UC service credit in case you return to UC later in your career. You may also request a refund of your accumulations. See page 9 for more information.

ELECTING TO RETIRE

If you're eligible to retire, you may do so at any time. Important: You'll need to retire within 120 days of your separation from UC employment if you want to continue any UC retiree health and other benefits for which you are eligible. For more information, please see ucal.us/ucrphwb.

To learn more about the retirement process, check out "What to do if you're preparing for retirement" at ucal.us/preporetire. You can initiate and process your retirement electronically through UC Retirement At Your Service (UCRAYS; retirementatyour.service.ucop.edu).

If you are a UCRP member and you elect to retire, you may choose to receive UCRP retirement income in the form of a monthly lifetime benefit or, under certain circumstances, a lump sum cashout. Be aware that by choosing the lump sum benefit, you forfeit other valuable UC retirement benefits, such as retiree health and welfare benefits.

You're eligible for the cashout if you became a UCRP member before July 1, 2013, and:

- you are eligible to retire when you leave University employment, (that is, age 50 or older with five years of UCRP service credit) or
- you are an inactive or disabled member who is eligible to retire.

In general, members who joined UCRP after July 1, 2013, don't have the lump sum option, unless you are a member of CNA, UPTe or AFSCME. To learn more, talk with your Benefits Office or see the Lump Sum Cashout Fact Sheet at ucal.us/lumpsumcashout.

If you are a Savings Choice participant, you are considered to have retired if you are eligible for retiree health benefits and commence those benefits within 120 days of leaving UC employment. Your eligibility for retiree health benefits is based on your age and any service credit you have earned that counts towards eligibility for retiree health and welfare benefits (both as a Savings Choice participant and as a UCRP member during a previous term of employment, if applicable). Please note that you must leave at least $2,000 in your Savings Choice account to retain your service credit toward retiree health and welfare benefits. See page 9 for more information.

Tip:

Let UC know your current address. If you leave money in the University of California Retirement Plan (UCRP), you must notify UC whenever you change your permanent address. You can update your address by signing in to your UC Retirement At Your Service (UCRAYS) account. Or let your local Benefits Office know of any changes.

REQUESTING A REFUND OF UCRP ACCUMULATIONS

When you leave UC, you may request a refund of your accumulations, i.e., the UCRP contributions that you made, plus any interest. (UC's contributions are not refundable.) You may also request a distribution of any Capital Accumulation Payment (CAP) balance.

You may request a refund of your UCRP accumulations regardless of whether or not you're eligible for inactive UCRP membership, but there's a significant downside: getting this refund cancels your right to any future UCRP benefits based on your years of service so far (unless you were to return to UC employment and reestablish service credit). Taking a CAP distribution does not have this consequence.

TAKING A CAPITAL ACCUMULATION PAYMENT (CAP) DISTRIBUTION

To take a CAP distribution, you'll need to complete the Distribution Request—CAP Balance form (UBEN 142CAP). You can request and submit the form through your UC Retirement at Your Service (UCRAYS) account. The form is also available online at ucal.us/UBEN142cap, or you may contact the UC Retirement Administration Service Center (800-888-8267) to request it.

PURCHASING SERVICE CREDIT

If you have a service credit purchase in progress it must be completed before you separate from UC.

UC RETIREMENT SAVINGS PROGRAM PLANS

KEEPING MONEY IN YOUR ACCOUNTS

If you are no longer working at the University of California, you can keep your money in the 403(b), 457(b) and DC Plans (including vested Savings Choice and Pension Choice supplemental accounts) for each plan that has a vested balance of at least $2,000.

If you don't meet the balance requirement, you must receive a full distribution of your vested money from that plan. You can request a distribution, or rollover, by going online to myUCretirement.com and logging into NetBenefits or by calling Fidelity at 866-682-7787. (If you're a non-exempt student employee, this method of taking a distribution applies to you as well.) Separated employees not meeting the minimum balance requirement will normally be subject to automatic distributions from that Plan within 90 days of separation.

If you don't make arrangements for a distribution, your vested balance will be:

- Rolled over to an IRA custodian in an account maintained for you (if your vested balance is more than $1,000 but less than $2,000), or

- Paid directly to you at your address of record (if your vested balance is $1,000 or less).

You may be liable for taxes and penalties on the distribution. Check with Fidelity for more information.

Retiree health and welfare benefits are not available to those who take a full refund or rollover of Savings Choice accumulations before beginning retiree health benefits. A partial refund or rollover of Savings Choice account funds will not affect eligibility for retiree health benefits, or retiree health service credit, as long as the DC Plan account maintains a balance of at least $2,000 (with some of that money remaining in the Savings Choice account).

PAYING BACK A 403(B) LOAN

If you have an outstanding loan, you'll need to arrange one of the following options with Fidelity Retirement Services within 90 days of your last day on pay status:

- Make monthly payments
- Repay the outstanding amount in full

If you don't take action, the outstanding loan principal will be reported as a distribution. That means you'll owe income tax on it, and possibly state and federal tax penalties as well.

QUESTIONS ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY OR OTHER RETIREMENT PLANS?

Contributions stop with your last paycheck. If you're considering retiring and need information, contact Social Security directly. If you're a member of another plan, contact the plan directly for information.

Tip:

Make sure your beneficiaries are up to date, even after you leave UC. If you decide to change the person or persons who'll receive benefits from your retirement plan in the event of your death, you can do this any time online for UCRP and CAP. Go online and sign in to your UC Retirement At Your Service (UCRAYS) account. Or you may submit a Designation of Beneficiary—Retirees, Former Employees and Others form (UBEN 117), which you'll find at ucal.us/UBEN117.

To check or change your beneficiaries for Retirement Savings Program plans, including Savings Choice or Pension Choice supplemental accounts, visit myUCretirement.com and log into NetBenefits or contact Fidelity at 866-682-7787.

Returning to UC Employment

If you return to work at UC, your eligibility to reenroll in benefits plans depends on your new position. If you're eligible, your enrollments will vary depending on the plans themselves and how long you've been separated from UC.

You may also be eligible for reinstatement of other benefits such as sick leave, depending on the length of your separation. Contact your Benefits Office within 31 days of your rehire date for information.

If you left your accumulations in UCRP and become a member again, you will build on the service credit you earned during your previous period of employment. If you received a refund of your UCRP accumulations, you may reestablish your service credit by redepositing any refund of your accumulations (plus interest). For more information, see the UCRP Service Credit Purchase Guide (ucal.us/purchase).

If you participated in Savings Choice and left at least $2,000 in your account, you can continue to build on the retiree health service credit you earned during your previous period of employment. If you received a full refund of your Savings Choice account, you do not retain your service credit, and you do not have the option to restore it through a service credit purchase.

If you've retired from UC and return to work, please see the Returning to UC Employment after Retirement Fact Sheet at (ucal.us/returntowork) and talk with your local Benefits Office.
